To Teach a Class in Shorthand and Typewriting at Walhalla, S. C.

For the reason that a large number of young men and young ladies have requested me to teach them Shorthand and Typewriting, I have decided to take a class of 20 to begin November 1st, 1915. My charges for the complete course will be $50, in advance.

I teach the famous Eclectic System, which I used successfully as Official Court Stenographer for 14 years. Any one who will apply himself can easily complete the full course within two months. Three young men whom I taught are now Official Court Stenographers, earning $2,500 per year, and others are drawing good salaries.

Now is the opportunity for any young man or young lady in Oconee county who desires to take a practical business course in Shorthand and Typewriting.

Scalded by Overturning Bucket of Hot Water—Other News.

Coneross, Oct. 11.—Special: About 30 of the young people of this community enjoyed a candy pulling at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith last Friday night. They were entertained very delightfully. Miss Clyde Smith, sister of the host, assisted in entertaining, and a number of interesting games were engaged in besides the pulling of the candy, which was most enjoyable. The guests present, from outside the immediate community, were Miss Clyde Smith, Messrs. Grover and Gilmer Hubbard, of Richland.

JAMES W. BEARDEN DEAD.

Well Known and Esteemed Citizen of Oconee Has Passed Away.

James W. Bearden, well and favorably known to the people of Oconee, died at his home at Oakway last Wednesday, October 6th, after a lingering illness. He had been in declining health for about two years, and some months ago his condition grew materially worse, his malady requiring treatment that could not be received outside a hospital. He was carried to a hospital in Columbia, where he remained for several months, but this brought no change in his condition, and about three months ago he returned to his home at Oakway.

Mr. Bearden was one of the most successful farmers of Oconee, and his farm at Oakway is recognized as one of the model farms of the county. Energetic, untiring in his every effort, he made a success of his chosen occupation of farmer, and he was recognized as an authority on many subjects pertaining to farm work and progressive agriculture. He will be greatly missed wherever he was known.

James Wilburn Bearden was born December 6th, 1848, in Oconee county, his parents being the late William (Buckie) and Elizabeth Bearden. His mother lived until a few years ago, passing away at the remarkable age of almost 104 years. On August 1st, 1867, Mr. Bearden was happily married to Miss Julia S. Hayes, and she, with nine children, survives. The children are: L. D. Bearden, Mrs. Jas. H. Mason, Miss Ella Bearden, Mrs. S. L. Brown, Mrs. S. B. King, J. C. Bearden, Misses Ella and Cordelia Bearden and W. S. Bearden. Twenty-nine grandchildren survive him. He is also survived by three brothers, Messrs. Andrew and W. Thompson Bearden, of the Oakway section of Oconee, and Samuel Bearden, of Georgia.

Mr. Bearden was always active in the affairs of his community, giving liberally of his means in every endeavor looking to community improvement. He donated the land upon which the Oakway school house stands and was instrumental in securing the establishment of the Oakway High School. He served for many years as a trustee in his district and proved ever active and progressive in matters pertaining to education. He was a consistent member of the Baptist church at Oakway, with which he had been identified for many years, serving as a deacon in his church.

James Wilburn Bearden was a good man, a strong man and true, ever ready to serve his country and his fellow-man where opportunity offered. He will be sorely missed in his home and in his immediate community, in the church and wherever he was known. We mourn the passing of a good man, yet rejoice with his loved ones in his hope of glory and the certainty of the treasure that is laid up for him.

CLEMSON-TENNESSEE GAME.

Clemson Victorious With Score of Three to Nothing.

Clemson College, Oct. 11.—Special: Pandemonium reigned supreme here Saturday evening after 6 o'clock, caused by the receipt of a telegram stating that the Clemson Tigers had defeated the University of Tennessee football team in Knoxville by a score of 3 to 0. The Davidson 11 held the Tigers so well last Saturday that we were afraid that they couldn't defeat the Tennesseans, but being filled with the "come-back" spirit they managed to kick one field goal and win the game in spite of the fierce opposition they had to overcome. The University of Tennessee team won the Southern Intercollegiate championship last year, and naturally would be expected to easily beat Clemson.

The whole team fought desperately, but to Harris, full back, belongs the honor of kicking the goal from the 20-yard line. McMillan was the individual star of the game, making a 40-yard and a 60-yard run with the ball. He received slight injuries during the game, while Gee received rather more serious injuries and was forced to be relieved by a new man. Aside from this the entire team played the full game—a remarkable record against as strong a team as Tennessee.

When the news of victory reached here the greatest manifestation of college spirit was witnessed that has occurred here in a number of years. Even after going to supper the yelling was continued, and when President Riggs appeared and reannounced the final score, such a yell went up that it almost deafened him.

Before supper was over the cadets were dismissed and they immediately gathered material in a convenient place just off the athletic field, poured ten gallons of kerosene oil over it, set fire to it and as the flames leaped upward began yelling again. The band played, the fire burned, night shirts were seen, and ere the flames died out the largest bonfire and celebration ever pulled off here in honor of a Tiger victory was complete. Our victory was the outstanding feature of the games played Saturday, and the cadets here didn't fail to show the "college

DR. McALLA KILLED AT STARR.

Shot Twice by Nephew, Feaster
Jones—Both Prominent.

Anderson, Oct. 9.—Dr. Lawrence Orr McCalla, aged 52, retired physician and wealthy and prominent farmer of Starr, this county, was shot and instantly killed early to-day by Mrs. McCalla's nephew, Feaster Jones, aged about 30. The shooting occurred in the automobile house in the McCalla back yard. After the shooting Jones walked to his home, situated across the road, and telephoned to Sheriff Ashley, telling him what he had done, and asked if he should come to the jail and surrender or would a deputy come for him. Jones refused to make any statement and the causes leading up to the homicide, which has shocked Anderson county, are unknown, and no one seems to be able to furnish any light as to any circumstances or incident or happening that might have been the cause.

Feaster Jones was interviewed as he was standing on his lawn, from where he was watching the crowd gather and where the coroner was empanelling a jury for the inquest. "I shot him; that is all I care to say," said he when asked if he cared to make a statement. Asked if there were any eye-witnesses, he replied: "One, only one. He is the negro they call 'Red.' He was there and saw the shooting." "Red" is Lee Jones, a negro employed about the McCalla place.

"Red" stated that he and Dr. McCalla had just returned in a buggy from Starr and that Dr. McCalla had directed him to take his automobile out of the garage and carry it to Starr to be repaired. "The machine was hard to crank, and while I was trying to get it started Dr. McCalla and Mr. Jones came into the garage," said "Red."

"I didn't hear any conversation between them because of the noise of the machine," declared the witness, "but their actions did not indicate anything was wrong. I ran the machine out in the yard, leaving the two gentlemen in the garage. When I had gotten about 25 feet away Dr. McCalla called me. His voice seemed natural. I thought he wanted to give me some more instructions. I started to the garage entrance, and then I saw Dr. McCalla standing with his right hand extended and his body leaning a bit forward. I heard him say an oath. Just about that time Mr. Jones, who was five or six feet away from the Doctor, said, 'Stand back; don't advance on me.' Then Mr. Jones fired. Dr. McCalla fell backwards, his head falling out of the doorway on the ground. The bullet had hit him in the right chest. Dr. McCalla tried to get up. While making this effort Mr. Jones walked up to him as he lay on the ground and fired at him the second time. This bullet hit him about the right eye and Dr. McCalla then dropped back on the ground dead."

"Red" says that he did not see anything in Dr. McCalla's hand when the Doctor was standing with his hand lifted toward Mr. Jones before the latter fired.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict in effect that Dr. McCalla came to his death from gunshot wounds at the hands of Feaster Jones. A Colt's .41 special was the kind of gun used by Jones.

Jones was brought to the county jail and occupies a cell to-night. He has retained counsel, who say they have not made any plans for applying for bail. There is no judge in the circuit.

The shooting has been the main topic of conversation throughout the county to-day. Both men were prominent and well connected and known by practically everybody in the county.

$15,000,000 in Bogus Limbs.

Fifteen million dollars' worth of artificial legs and arms for crippled soldiers will be made by the J. E. Hanger Artificial Limb Company, of Pittsburgh, to fill orders from the English and French governments. The company plans to ship 250 legs and arms each month till the order is completed. The first shipment from the Pittsburgh factory has been made.

"Spirit" in the Superlative Degree.

The team returned yesterday afternoon just before dark. Although it was cold, the senior class stayed at the depot two hours waiting for the train, and when it did come they brought the foot ball team over in the wagon brought over for the purpose. The horses were not allowed to pull it, for they had already been returned to their stables. The under-classesmen and band met the procession at the edge of the college lands and escorted the team to the barracks.

We are to play Auburn in Anderson next Saturday afternoon, and the corps of cadets are to be "permitted" to attend. If enthusiasm or college spirit will help a team at all, there will be a demonstration in Anderson next Saturday night which will be heard as far as Alabama, if it is possible for 800 cadets and 300 loyal alumni to do so.

The 0 to 0 tie with Furman here Saturday afternoon paled into insignificance when the results of the Tennessee game were received. S.

MILITIA SENT TO CHARLESTON.

Sheriff Requested Assistance to Meet
Election Day Possibilities.

Columbia, Oct. 11.—After Sheriff Elmore Martin had made representations that he was unable to cope with an alleged threatening situation growing out of the mayoralty election in Charleston to-morrow, Governor Manning to-day ordered the Charleston militia to report at its armory at 8 o'clock to-night prepared for duty. Adjt. Gen. Moore left at once for Charleston to take charge of the militia.

Sheriff Martin told the Governor that feeling was running high as the result of a bitter election fight and he feared bloodshed. His representations were supported, it was said at the Governor's office, by the affidavits of citizens and of the Democratic executive committee.

The sheriff was instructed to appoint 150 or more deputies to preserve peace to-morrow.

Other National Guard companies within a short run of Charleston also will be ordered held ready to proceed to Charleston in the event of serious trouble, it was said.

Order Surprises Charleston.

Charleston, Oct. 11.—Wire advices were received here early this afternoon from Columbia saying that Governor Manning had ordered the seven local militia companies here to report at their armories under arms and there to await further orders, and had also ordered Sheriff J. Elmore Martin to swear in a large number of deputies to help keep the peace at the polls to-morrow when Charleston will hold a municipal primary for the nomination of mayor, aldermen and school commissioners. So far this afternoon there has been no movement of militia.

These orders came like a bolt out of the blue for a majority of Charlestonians, because, up to this time, although the two factions—those representing the incumbent, Mayor Grace, and his opponent, Major T. T. Hyde—have held several large mass meetings at which warm words have been spoken, the order has been excellent.

Quiet at Polls.

Charleston, Oct. 12.—With four companies of the National Guard of South Carolina and three divisions of naval militia held in their armories ready to supersede the local police in case of emergency, and more than 30 deputy sheriffs held ready for similar duty, Charleston voters to-day were balloting in the Democratic primaries for mayor, four aldermen and six school commissioners.

There was no indication of trouble several hours after the polls opened, and the police apparently had the situation under control.

Only one arrest had been made here up to 3 o'clock. Both Hyde and Grace factions claim victory by wide margins. The militia continued idle at their armories. The city police are keeping order.

Hyde Has 14 Votes Lead.

Charleston, Oct. 13.—At 1:15 o'clock this morning T. T. Hyde was leading by 14 votes in the race for mayor against John P. Grace. Two clubs in Ward 6 and Ward 10 have not made reports. It will require the official count to make known the result.

New Orleans Cotton Market.

New Orleans, Oct. 12.—There still was considerable liquidation to contend with, but the cotton market proved susceptible to buying orders to-day and at its height stood 26 to 29 points over yesterday's final figures. The close was 24 to 28 points up.

Favorable cables, bullish spot reports, the rise of 13 points in spots here and numerous dispatches from the interior telling of extremely high prices for cotton seed were the main bullish influences of the session.

(Yesterday was a legal holiday—Columbus Day—in New York State. The cotton exchange there did not open.)

Weather Forecast for One Week.

(Special to Keowee Courier.)

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 12, 1915.—Following is the weather forecast issued by the U. S. Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C., for the week beginning Wednesday, October 13, 1915:

For South Atlantic and East Gulf States: Cloudy weather, with occasional showers, is probable Wednesday and Thursday and generally fair weather thereafter. Temperatures will be near or slightly above the seasonal average.

TO INVESTIGATE BOLL WEEVIL.

Governor and Others Will Spend a Week in Boll Weevil Territory.

Columbia, Oct. 9.—In order to see for himself what the actual conditions are in sections ravaged by the boll weevil, and with the idea of getting some information valuable in fighting the weevil before it can extend its blighting presence to this State, Governor Richard L. Manning and several of the Clemson College authorities will make a trip of inspection to the Mississippi Valley during the week October 16-23. The inspection trip will be made through Louisiana and Mississippi, where the boll weevil has been at its worst.

In addition to the Governor, the party which will make the inspection trip will be composed of W. M. Riggs, president of Clemson College; Senator Alan Johnston, of Newberry, chairman of the Clemson board of trustees; J. N. Harper, of Clemson College; B. H. Rawls, of the animal industry of the United States Department and a trustee of Clemson College, and a Mr. Hunter, a special agent of the Federal agricultural department.

The party will leave Columbia next Saturday morning over the Southern Railway, and go direct from Spartanburg to New Orleans, reaching there Sunday morning. Places which will be visited in Louisiana will be Alexandria, Monroe and Tallulah, Vicksburg, Natchez, Brookhaven and Jackson, Miss., will also be visited. The entire trip will be made in one week's time.

Noted Specialist Dead.

Atlanta, Oct. 12.—Dr. William M. Baird, one of the best known physicians in the South, died Sunday at the residence of his son in Baltimore, after an illness of several months.

Dr. Baird was a native of New Jersey and before coming south he took an active part in Democratic politics in New Jersey, and was once speaker of the House of Representatives in that State. His preparatory education was received at Pennington Seminary in New Jersey and his medical education was received at the Bellevue Hospital College of New York. Dr. Baird was a deep student. He is survived by his wife, who is the daughter of the late Senator Silvesthorth, of New Jersey, and by two sons, E. J. Baird, of Baltimore, and Wm. M. Baird, Jr., of Atlanta.

Kills Brother, Then Suicides.

Rocky Mount, Va., Oct. 9.—Willie Buckner, 17 years old, son of a Franklin county farmer, yesterday shot and killed his brother, Hodie Buckner, 14 years old, by blowing his head off with a shotgun and then, using his toe to pull the trigger, shot and killed himself. Companions said the youths had quarreled.

Found Dead in Pullman.

Florence, S. C., Oct. 9.—Dr. J. T. Hampton, a prominent Philadelphia physician, was found dead in his berth aboard a Pullman on Train 80, from the South, this morning shortly before the train reached Lake City. His body was brought to Florence and turned over to an undertaker, who prepared it for shipment to Towanda, Pa., the home of his wife. Dr. Hampton was accompanied by his wife and child, who occupied the opposite berth. He was 73 years old, and his death was pronounced to have been from natural causes.
